

News Release

PENTAGON PROTECTION'S SALES DIRECTOR, STEVE HARRY APPOINTED AFFILIATE MEMBER OF THE SECURITY INSTITUTE

Stephen Harry, Sales Director of glass protection specialists, Pentagon Protection, has been appointed an affiliate member of the Security Institute. As part of Pentagon's global team of experts specialising in the advancement, testing and installation of enhanced glass protection systems, Steve with over 20 years experience in the window film industry with project success throughout Europe, the Middle East and Asia, providing blast mitigation and enhanced security protection within building flat glass and glazing.

Steve had this to say, "The Security Institute is an authoritative body widely recognised by government, law enforcement, public and private sector and I hope that not only will I draw upon the knowledge of the Institute, but help towards building a wider understanding of film as an effective part of security and an immediate provider of enhanced protection within a glazed environment. "With events of the past year and with Gordon Brown's recent announcement of increased anti-terror measures, we have a clear demonstration that security issues will sit very firmly at the forefront of public awareness for many years and clarity in terms of what is available and increased awareness of how to provide such protection is of paramount importance and a duty of care to us all."

Steve is also a member of ASIS UK Chapter 208.

For further information please contact:
Stephanie E. Kirkwood on 01494 793 333 or email s.kirkwood@pentagonprotection.com